

The Heart's Calling Paradox

The Fourth Doorway Mastering The Abundance Frequency

The Paradox:

Without the heart's calling you cannot expose the scarcity beliefs stuck in your subconscious mind. However, very often you don't know the heart's calling when you set out to master the abundance frequency. Meaning that you must deal with all the limiting scarcity beliefs that you do know long before the heart's calling shows itself. Once that does happen, however, you are greeted with even more limiting beliefs telling you what you can't do. It is almost as if the low-hanging fruit of scarcity beliefs that are obvious help build your ability to unravel beliefs and gives you momentum for when the heart's calling does finally show itself.

The other side of this paradox is what so many people run into when they go and look for the heart's calling. Namely, a lack of motivation coupled with or fueled by absolutely zero results. Minus the beginner's luck that most people experience when they head toward their heart's calling, you will see very few tangible results when undoing scarcity brainwashing. This means the ego has a strong advantage in the beginning. Not only do you not see any progress in physical reality from unbrainwashing scarcity out of you, but you also don't recognize internal personal growth because of its extremely gradual nature. Making decisions based in abundance takes time to turn you around and head you in the right direction, like turning an aircraft carrier one-hundred and eighty degrees.

The Threshold:

If everyone saw quick tangible results from doing the inner work of unraveling scarcity brainwashing, this wouldn't be that much of a game. Mastery of the abundance frequency requires everything you have, and then a little bit more. For a prize such as inner wealth, there must be a long hard road to get there. You cannot master anything without the required time invested. It takes 10,000 hours to master anything. Therefore, mastering the heart's calling or the abundance frequency is not like flipping a switch.

There could be no leap of faith if every time you undid a limiting belief surrounding abundance, more showed up right afterward. There would be nothing to have faith in because it would be mechanical in nature. It is no different than exercising the body. If every time you worked out you immediately saw results, momentum would be simple to build and maintain. It takes months if not years to get the body of an athlete, especially when you live a sedentary lifestyle. An obese person has much farther to go and much more to undo in their belief systems and perceptions than the average person.

This is why the heart's calling begins with a vow. You must promise yourself that you will see it through to the end. The end of the heart's calling is mastery or death, all else is failure. But how do you make a vow of that gravity without knowing what the heart's calling is? How do you gain momentum without knowing the direction you are going in and seeing no tangible results for all your effort? How do you do the thing you are put on this Earth to do when you have no clue what that thing even is?

The Solution: ?