

I Want To Connect With Larry!

If you are reading this then most likely you would like to connect with me in some way, ask me a question, or send me a message. I prefer to speak only with students who have committed to themselves and bought my courses. For those students, we have the weekly Course Support Workshop (Wednesdays @ 6 pm PST). This is the only place you will be able to connect with me.

The main reason I prefer this method of communication is that students who have taken my courses will have a much more precise question on why the tools they are learning are not working for them in real life. Or they will want to know how to unbrainwash themselves not ask me to do it for them.

It is simply more efficient with my time and energy to have a place where people can ask me questions rather than attempt to reply to thousands upon thousands of emails. Many people ask similar questions about how to implement the tools I teach so it makes far more sense to answer the question when other students can hear the reply and learn from it as well.

I Need Help Now

I like to think of FinancialShaman.com as an emotional intelligence gym or workout facility. Meaning that you will not find answers to your questions when you are in scarcity and need everything “right now.” When scarcity has taken over your decision-making it makes it seem as though the walls are closing in and you are going to die without an answer right now. But that is all in the imagination, not real life.

This place does not offer a get-rich-quick scheme of any kind. My approach to money is to find what you are put on this Earth to do which I label your heart's calling, then practice that calling for 10,000 hours until you are a master of it. At that point, you can charge whatever your heart desires in exchange for your mastery. Not sure who would see 10,000 hours as a quick way to wealth but that is the fastest way I have found to get there. Depending on where you start the clock, it has taken me 20 years to find and master my calling.

This emotional intelligence gym is a safe space to fail. Many people who have been indoctrinated through public education find it hard to fail. They want to do everything perfectly the first time and would rather ask a question of the teacher than learn through trial and error. Well my friends, this is a safe space to fail over and over again until you can connect with your heart for its wisdom to any problem you encounter in life, financial or otherwise.

I Have A Question Before I Commit

Many people reach out to me with questions about the courses or the workshops wanting me to put their fears to rest before they buy anything. You must check in with your heart and seek only its guidance when you feel it is time to move forward and start taking the courses. I will not help you with this decision in any way because then you may blame me if something doesn't go how you expect it to.

If you expect to be a millionaire in a matter of months after taking a short video course then you will be let down when that doesn't happen and will blame me as the course instructor. This is the same as blaming exercise equipment when you do not have the body of an athlete a few months after you purchased the machine. You must get guidance from within and commit before you do anything otherwise you will never see it through.

I have written full course descriptions and given you tons of free information on this site. You can go through the blocks, the paradoxes, the podcasts, the blogs, and the videos all for free and it will take you very far to unbrainwashing your own poverty. But only you can know when you are ready to invest in yourself and make the leap of faith that you will figure out how to eliminate financial stress from your life once and for all.

Why Do I Have To Pay To Talk To Larry?

I love this question because you can hear the hypocrisy in it. Do you want me to give you some of my time or energy for free? Is that abundance or scarcity? You are afraid to part ways with your money fearing that you will never get more in the future? Is that abundance or scarcity?

Why would an abundance master give any of their time away for free? I am a master of what I do and the only things I give away for free can help many people for many years to come. When I make a video or a podcast I only do it once and it can help millions of people potentially. It is simply inefficient to speak with people who do not value my time.

If for some reason you simply cannot commit to buying a course before hearing me speak to students then you can always pay the $50 and come to a course support workshop before you buy the course. Remember that I only answer the questions of students who have bought the course.